Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

- >> Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Key terms in this section are listed below. Click on the link to view the definition(s) in the glossary.

- Academic Major

Teachers Prepared by Subject Area

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by subject area for academic year 2022-23.

For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Subject area" refers to the subject area(s) an individual has been prepared to teach. An individual can be counted in more than one subject area. If no individuals were prepared in a particular subject area, please leave that cell blank. \(\$205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\)\)

What are CIP Codes?

No teachers prepared in academic year 2022-23

If your program has no teachers prepared, check the box above and leave the table below blank (or clear responses already entered).

What are CIP codes? The Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) provides a taxonomic scheme that supports the accurate tracking and reporting of fields of study and program completions activity. CIP was originally developed by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in 1980, with revisions occurring in 1985, 1990, and 2000 (<https://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cipcode/Default.aspx?y=55>).

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2022-23. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Program Assurances

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

>> Program Assurances

Respond to the following assurances. Teacher preparation programs should be prepared to provide documentation and evidence, when requested, to support the following assurances. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(A\)\(iii\); §206\(b\))

Program Assurances

Note: This section is preloaded from the prior year's IPRC.

1. Program preparation responds to the identified needs of the local educational agencies or States where the program completers are likely to teach, based on past hiring and recruitment trends.

- Yes
 No

2. Preparation is closely linked with the needs of schools and the instructional decisions new teachers face in the classroom.

- Yes
 No

3. Prospective special education teachers are prepared in core academic subjects and to instruct in core academic subjects.

- Yes
 No
 Program does not prepare special education teachers

4. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students with disabilities.

- Yes
 No

5. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to limited English proficient students.

- Yes
 No

6. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students from low-income families.

- Yes
 No

7. Prospective teachers are prepared to effectively teach in urban and rural schools, as applicable.

- Yes
 No

8. Describe your institution's most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:

Alternative certification candidates teach in urban schools. While our current program includes coursework that prepares our candidates to provide effective instruction for linguistically and culturally diverse students, and those with disabilities, we re-designed the program to better meet increasing rigorous standards and expectations. In our program course of study, all candidates are required to take an ESL methods course and an expanded Special Education methods course in order to cover in greater depth the issues of adaptation for all students, particularly for linguistically and culturally diverse students, and students with disabilities.

Assessment Pass Rates

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

>> Assessment Pass Rates

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period. \(§205\(a\)\(1\)\(B\)\)

Please note that this page does not have an edit feature as the pass rates have already been through several rounds of verification. If you identify an error, please contact RTI's Title II Support Center and your testing company representative.

Use of Technology

1. Provide the following information about the use of technology in your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(F\))

Does your program prepare teachers to:

- a. integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction

Yes

No

- b. use technology effectively to collect data to improve teaching and learning

Yes

No

- c. use technology effectively to manage data to improve teaching and learning

Yes

No

- d. use technology effectively to analyze data to improve teaching and learning

Yes

No

2. Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

Integration of technology is included in multiple methods classes. Online components to all courses require candidates to demonstrate a variety of technology proficiencies. As part multiple assignments throughout the program, candidates collect data on student performance and analyze the impact of their teaching on student learning, using technology effectively throughout.

Teacher Training

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program.

(§205(a)(1)(G))

Note: This section is preloaded from the prior year's IPRC.

Teacher Training

1. Provide a description of the activities that prepare general education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

All teacher education candidates take Special Education 521, Characteristics and Special Education Methods. This is a special education methods course which focuses on the characteristics of students with disabilities, special education law, collaboration (including co-teaching) and development of adaptations or modifications. In the course, candidates learn specific methods for teaching students with disabilities effectively. One of the main focuses of the course is Universal Design for Learning. Candidates learning the three main principles of UDL and develop lesson plans demonstration implementation of these principles. Candidates also learn different approaches to co-teaching. Also, the special education methods course is 3 credit hours to allow for substantially more content related to instruction of individuals with disabilities.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Alternative Licensure Program candidates are participating in IEP meetings as they are the teacher of record in the classroom. All teacher education candidates take Special Education 521, Characteristics and Special Education Methods. This is a special education methods course which focuses on the characteristics of students with disabilities, special education law, collaboration (including co-teaching) and development of adaptations or modifications. In the course, candidates learn specific methods for teaching students with disabilities effectively. One of the main focuses of the course is Universal Design for Learning. Candidates learning the three main principles of UDL and develop lesson plans demonstration implementation of these principles. Candidates also learn different approaches to co-teaching. Also, the special education methods course is 3 credit hours to allow for substantially more content related to instruction of individuals with disabilities.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

Elementary candidates take three courses in ESL that prepare them for working with ELL. These courses are: Foundations of Language Minority Education, Assessment of English Language Learners and Methods for Teaching English Language Learners. Candidates in the secondary education program take Language, Culture and Diversity, which is a course housed in the ESL program.

2. Does your program prepare special education teachers?

- Yes
 No

If yes, provide a description of the activities that prepare special education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

The alternative licensure Graduate Program leading to a Masters of Science in Special Education take a course that introduces them to characteristics of students with disabilities, legal foundations and general methods. They take additional courses in teaching students with disabilities, academic methods courses for elementary, middle and secondary students. They also take a class for working with students who have moderate to severe disabilities. All students in the special education program take a class that addresses classroom management to include interventions for students whose behavior severely disrupts learning or leads to lack of safety. They also address social emotional learning and building pro-social skills.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Special Education candidates take a class that specifically addresses IEPs. They develop an understanding of the IDEA provisions as they relate to IEPs including parental rights. They focus on transition planning as well. In addition, they develop skills in progress monitoring: effective ways to progress monitor and how to effectively share it with other team members, families and students.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

Candidates in the graduate program in special education take one course that specifically focuses on education of ELL. In addition, they take the course on school and culture/child, family and community relations which is described above. The ways some members of various cultures view disability is addresses as is the way these views may impact their goals for their children throughout their education and post-secondary aspirations. There is a focus on issues related to identifying a student who is an ELL who may or may not have a disability. In methods classes, there is a focus on identifying methods to support learners with special needs who are also ELL.
